INTERNATIONAL MANAGEMENT AND INTERNATIONAL MANAGEMENT IN LATIN AMERICA CONCENTRATIONS—MBA

ALL CONCENTRATION INFORMATION EFFECTIVE FOR STUDENTS ADMITTED 1/2005 OR THEREAFTER.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

International Management and the more specialized International Management in Latin America concentrations at the Anderson School of Management develop global managers who contribute to and lead organizations in diverse social, economic, cultural, and political environments. International Management professionals have the skills to exercise power responsibly. Innovative and entrepreneurial, graduates of the International Management concentrations are able to pursue new opportunities in changing business climates.

Students who are interested in careers in International Management should meet with a faculty advisor early in their program to discuss career options and to have their course selections approved. Students who are serious about an International Management career should also consider acquiring some first-hand experience by living and working or studying abroad. For all but a handful of countries, students will benefit greatly from mastering a foreign language.
